

Dear users of HomeschoolingRecords,

I have been able to provide free online access to my grading, attendance and scheduling application for the past four years. I am a homeschooling mom and I felt a need for this application for my family and I decided to share it. Unfortunately, I need to begin charging a fee for membership to the site because of an increasing cost of keeping it active. I believe an annual amount of $25.00 per user will suffice. I will continue to make upgrades when possible.

Recently, I have added an archive grades page and a transcript page. I also upgraded the attendance page to enable quick duplication of a day's activities.

Also, please don't forget there is an allowance tracker and a shopping list creator sorted by aisle.

For now, the site remains the same, as far as logging in goes. I will soon be implementing the need to sign in with PayPal for a free month trial period. Thank you for being a part of HomeschoolingRecords' community.
